IMMENSE SLAUGHTER.

The Chinese Defeated in an Engagement at Ping Yang.

THOUSANDS REPORTED KILLED.

The Battle Raged All Day Saturday and During the Night Until the Japanese Succeeded in Forming a Cordon Around the Enemy's Works.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A dispatch from Seoul says a great battle has been fought at Ping Yang between the Chinese and Japanese troops, in which the Chinese were utterly routed. The Chinese loss is estimated at 2,300 killed, wounded and taken prisoners. Among those captured by the Japanese are several of the Chinese commanding officers, including General Tso Fung, commander in chief of the Manchurian army, who was severely wounded. The Japanese loss is only thirty killed and 270 wounded, including eleven officers. Most of the casualties among the Japanese occurred during the first day's fighting, and very few were the result of the night attack.

The Japanese forces are in active pursuit of the fugitives, who have thrown away their arms and readily yield themselves prisoners.

A dusultory war may be carried on for some time to come, but unless China shall succeed in getting another army into the peninsula Corea will undoubtedly remain in possession of the Japanese.

On Thursday a Japanese column from Pong-San made a reconnoissance in force, drawing the fire of the Chinese forts, and thus ascertained their position. The column then fell back in good order, with little loss. By Friday night all the Japanese were in position for a combined attack upon the enemy. The battle was opened on Saturday at daybreak by a Japanese cannoade of the Chinese works, which was continued without cessation until afternoon, the Chinese responding.

At about 2 o'clock a body of infantry was thrown forward by the Japanese, and maintained a rifle fire upon the enemy until dusk. Throughout the day only the Pong San column was engaged. The Chinese defences had suffered greatly, but the losses on either side were small, both the Chinese and Japanese having taken advantage of all the shelter available. The Japanese troops, however, had gained some advanced positions. The firing continued at intervals during the night, and, in the meantime two Japanese flanking columns had formed a cordon around the Chinese.

At 3 o'clock in the morning an attack was made by several of the Japanese columns simultaneously and with admirable precision. The Chinese lines, which were so strong in front, were found to be weak in the rear, and here the attack was a perfect success. The Chinese were completely taken by surprise, and were thrown into a panic. Hundreds were cut down, and those who escaped death, finding themselves surrounded at every point, broke and fled. Half an hour after the attack was opened the position at Ping Yang was in possession of the Japanese. It is estimated that [illegible] Chinese soldiers were engaged in the battle. The Japanese captured immense stores of provisions, munitions of war and hundreds of colors.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Official confirmation has been received at the Japanese legation of a general engagement between the Chinese and Japanese forces at Ping Yang, near the northern frontier of Corea, on the 15th instant, resulting in a decisive victory for the Japanese force. Details of the engagement are expected by the officials of the legation.

A Polish Woman's Strange Death.

ASHLAND, Pa., Sept. 18.—Mrs. John Crow, a Polish woman, residing with her husband at Mahanoy Plane, died suddenly and in a mysterious manner yesterday. The woman's father, who was at her bedside when she passed away, claimed that the woman was the victim of foul play and caused the arrest of her husband on suspicion.

A Fatal Tornado.

PERRY, O. T., Sept. 18.—A terrible tornado passed through Jennings and Mining and blew fifty houses to atoms. A young lady and two children were killed and several people injured. Several houses caught fire at Mining and a conflagration followed.

ODD FELLOWS IN SESSION.

Seventieth Annual Meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN, Tenn., Sept. 18.—The first business of the seventieth annual session of the sovereign grand lodge Independent Order of Odd Fellows was transacted yesterday. Convention hall was crowded with distinguished Odd Fellows, grand representatives and citizens. Henry Schwartz, of Chattanooga, acted as master of ceremonies.

Governor Turney, on behalf of the state of Tennessee, made an address of welcome, which was enthusiastically received. George W. Ochs, mayor of Chattanooga, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city. W. A. Barry, of Nashville, welcomed the grand representatives on behalf of the grand lodge of Tennessee. Still another address of welcome was delivered by Charles F Landis, grand patriarch of the grand encampment of Tennessee. Hon C T Campbell, of London, Ont., grand sire of the sovereign of the grand lodge, responded to the addresses of welcome on behalf of the grand lodge.

Grand Sire C. T. Campbell delivered his annual address, in the course of which he said: "When you met in Atlanta twenty years ago the jurisdictions forming the territory recognized as the southern states contained less than 6,000 Odd Fellows. Today the brotherhood in the same section approximates 50,000, a net increase during the year under the sovereign grand lodge of 32,897, making at the end of 1893 a membership of 780,192, or including the Sisters of Rebekah degree, 888,743, showing satisfactory evidence of solid growth. Adding some 25,000 members in foreign jurisdictions it shows a total of about 913,000 at the end of 1893."

The report of Grand Treasurer Isaac A. Sheppard showed a cash balance in the treasury of $33,251.25.

This afternoon the grand parade occurs, and a reunion of past grand sires will follow in the evening.

Jackson-Harmsworth Polar Expedition.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 18.—Sealing vessels which have arrived here from Hammerfest, the northernmost town of Europe, report that the Jackson-Harmsworth polar expedition, which left England on July 11 for Franz Josef land via Archangel, on board the steamer Windward, was in the neighborhood of the seventy-eighth parallel trying to push north between Nova Zemble and Franz Josef land. The members of the expedition had found it impossible to make any progress north and were engaged in forcing their way back out of the ice.

BRECKINRIDGE WILL CONTEST.

He Will Make a Fight for the Nomination Before the Committee.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 18.—There seems to be no doubt about Colonel Breckinridge making a fight for the nomination before the district committee, on which all possible pressure has been brought to light. Breckinridge last night made public a statement in which he says he secured a majority of the legal Democratic votes of the district and that fraud was practiced against him in several counties.

This committee is composed of one member from each county. Fayette county, the home of Breckinridge, has two legislative districts, and hence two members of this committee, each of the other seven counties having one. The member of the state Democratic committee for the Seventh district is the tenth member of the committee, which was known to stand six for Breckinridge and four anti-Breckinridge

As the committee has done everything in its power in fixing a late date for the primaries, adopting the challenge rule and everything else, he wanted, the Owens men were alarmed on finding out that the Breckinridge agents were at work with a view to presenting evidence for a contest before this committee next Saturday.

Corrected official returns from the eight counties of the Ashland district show a plurality of 310 for Owens over Breckinridge.

Colonel Thompson's Disappointment.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Colonel Breckinridge's defeat was a severe disappointment to Colonel Phil Thompson, who was one of the counsel for the Kentuckian in the suit brought by Miss Pollard. Colonel Thompson said: "It seems that the enemies of Colonl Breckinridge have triumphed. No man has been more shamefully misrepresented and villified, and all because he would not elevate his mistress to a place above his children in his own household. But he gave his opponents a game fight. He had the praying women and the machine against him, and yet he was beaten by only a few hundred votes."

Outraged, Then Murdered.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Sept. 17.—There was a peculiarly brutal rape and murder in Thomas county about six miles from here. A 12-year-old white girl, daughter of Martin Butler, had gone to a spring to get water, and not returning, her mother started in search and found that she had been assaulted and her throat cut. The girl was not dead and lisped out the name of her assailant, a negro living in the neighborhood. The little sufferer bled to death. Sheriff Doss has captured the man and eluded the lynchers.

Feared He Would Starve to Death.

MILAN, Mo., Sept. 18.—Adam Law, a prosperous farmer in the eastern part of this county, attempted suicide by slashing himself across the face and throat with a razor and trying to beat out his brains with a hammer. He gave as his reason that he was afraid he was going to starve to death. He had been a miser all his life and is worth $7[illegible].

The Ezeta Case Closed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Attorney Pierson closed his argument in the Ezeta case and the case was then submitted. Judge Morrow said he would like to give an immediate decision, but owing to the gravity of the proceedings, he would have to take it under advisement.

Female Murderer Found Guilty.

RENO, Nev., Sept. 17.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Alice Hartley, charged with the murder of State Senator M. D. Foley, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, recommending the defendant to the mercy of the court.

Treasury Official Asked to Resign.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A Washington dispatch last night says that Secretary Carlisle has asked for the immediate resignation of Jeremiah O'Rourke, of Newark, N. J., supervising architect of the treasury department.

EMPIRE STATE POLITICS

Republicans Meet in Convention at Saratoga.

MORTON'S NOMINATION PROBABLE.

Francis Hendricks Likely to Win the Contest for Second Place—Sixth Annual Convention of the Young Men's League, of New York.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The Republican state convention convened here this morning, and unless the hard work being done by candidates has a very great effect on the situation the Republican state ticket will read like this: For governor, Levi P. Morton; for lieutenant governor, Francis Hendricks for judge of the court of appeals, Albert S Haight. As to Mr. Morton's chances the sentiment seems not a bit changed by the active strife for lieutenant governor, and Mr. Platt, who is himself manager for the Morton boom, is perfectly confident and smiling.

He said this morning: "The arrival of many delegations this morning has only served to strengthen the cause of Mr. Morton. Many of the leaders of delegations not instructed for Mr. Morton have assured me of their support." Asked if he had any preference of lieutenant governor, he said: "I have none, and I will not interfere with it in any way."

There is not much jubilation in Mr. Fassett's quarters, although he is still a candidate for governor and will be placed in nomination before the convention. Messrs. Woodford, Butterfield and Russell are still in the fray, and say they intend to stay until a nomination is made.

Things have taken a very different turn for those interested in the candidacy of the various men for lieutenant governor. Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse, has announced that he is a candidate for the office. It is almost certain at this time that Hendricks will be the nominee for lieutenant governor. It is said the booms for Senators Veddars and Coggeshall were simply run to keep Mr. Saxton from receiving too many votes.

For Lieutenant governor, Senator Coggeshall says he has Oneida with 16, Otsego, 8; Schoharie, 7; Madison, 6, and part of Cortland, some from Kings and some from New York; in all about fifty-four votes. Two new candidates for lieutenant governor were announced, Gorton W. Allen, of Cayuga, and Senator Coggeshall.

The Republican state committee met last evening and transacted very little business excepting the naming of a temporary chairman. For this position Mr. Bellamy, of New York, nominated the Hon. Lemuel E. Quigg, of New York. He was unanimously named.

The Milholland faction of New York, without making any comments, filed with the clerk of the committee a notice of a contest of all the New York city districts. The Milholland contest was established by a unanimous vote, and so disposed of finally.

The choice for permanent chairman of the convention lies between Senator Warner Miller and General Benjamin F. Tracey. It is also believed that if Mr. Miller is selected as chairman General Tracey will present the name of Mr. Morton to the convention, Mr. Depew having had to decline the honor. It is further said that William Sullivan, of Rochester, will be chairman of the committee on credentials, and Congressman Payne will be chairman of the committee on resolutions.

An unlooked for element in the canvass of the candidates for nominations in the Republican convention developed when A. G. Vanscaick, chairman of the state committee of the American Protective association arrived here.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

The Sixth Annual Convention of the Young Men's League of New York.

SARATOGA, Sept. 18.—The sixth annual convention of the Young Men's League of Republican clubs of the state of New York met yesterday afternoon in Convention hall. President Green came upon the platform and was greeted with hearty cheers. In his address he arraigned the Democratic party and predicted Republican success in the coming elections.

General Collis, of New York, presented to President Green a gavel, the head made from oak from Mt. McGregor, and the handle from the settee that Garfield used at the seashore.

The committee on nominations reported in favor of the re-election of George W. Green, of Broome, for president. The report was adopted unanimously.

Other nominations indorsed by the convention were Secretary Fred Bryant, of Broome; Treasurer A. B. Colvin, of Glens Falls (re-elected).

The convention nominated and elected its own president

A Baby's Life Saved.

WALTON, N. Y., April 14, 1894.—When my baby was six months old she was taken very badly with diarrhœa. A doctor came every day for a week. Baby got worse, until she could notice nothing at all. I got so worried I called on our druggists and he recommended Dr. Hand's Diarrhœa Mixture. I got it and just one-half a bottle cured my baby and saved her life.

ALL WERE DROWNED.

The Steamer Namyong Goes Down With All on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—One of the most peculiar stories of the loss of a vessel that has been received in this city for many months is brought in advices via the steamer Oceanic from Singapore via Hong Kong. The Namyong, a 1,512 ton steamer, is said to have gone down with all hands on board in the Carimate straits while on a passage from Soura Baya to Singapore. There were eight white men and fifty Malays before the mast and employed on the ship in addition to the officers.

On the evening of Aug. 7 the British steamer Ingraban noticed signals of distress in the direction of Serutu Island and bore down upon them. The Ingraban discovered the Namyon with her head on a coral reef. The Ingraban then approached closer to the reef, and succeeded in getting sixteen of the wrecked crew off her. Then an attempt was made to tow the Namyon in deep water. Several unsuccessful attempts were made, and finally she commenced to slide backward, and she slipped from the ledge, striking the Ingraban near the port quarter, smashing in a number of planks of the latter.

The Namyong was an iron screw steamer of the old style. She was built in 1875, and has been in the India trade ever since that time. There was $71,000 worth of insurance on the vessel, one-third of which is held by American companies.

Work of an Incendiary.

NORTH ENID, O. T., Sept. 18.—Fiends destroyed almost all that has been accomplished in this town in the past year, and today, where was the most substantial part of North Enid, is a black, charred mass of ruins and several business men without a dollar in the world. F. S. Kirk was taken out of his building unconscious, and C. N. Whitaker, editor of The Daily Tribune, fell exhausted almost in the flames, but was rescued and escaped with slight burns. The origin of the fire was incendiary.

Debs Favors Hannahan's Re-Election.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—Yesterday's session of the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen was devoted to the consideration of routine reports from committees. A movement is on foot to defeat the re-election of Vice Grand Master Hannahan because of his position in the Pullman sympathy strike. It is now given out that Debs's mission here is to aid Hannahan.

Rejoicing Over Breckinridge's Defeat.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The National Christian League for the Promotion of Social Purity, of which Mrs. Elizabeth B. Grannis is president, have adopted resolutions expressing gratitude "to the Kentucky women and men who have so nobly worked and earnestly prayed to defeat the candidacy of W. C. P. Breckinridge." Similar greeting were sent by the Women's Rescue League, of Boston.

Failure of Mill Owners.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 18.—Joseph M. Baltz and George P. Baltz, trading as Baltz & Brother, owners of the Meadow Grove carpet mills, near Merion Square, Lower Merion township, this county, have failed, and Sheriff Simpson has levied on their stock and machinery. The sheriff's levy was made under execution on five judgments amounting to $14,125.66.

A Water Famine Threatened.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Sept. 18.—A water famine threatens this city. There is but one source of supply, and not only has that become so low that the authorities have warned residents to use it sparingly, but it has become impregnated with disease germs, and several cases of typhoid fever have been traced to it.

Italian Bankers Decamp.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 18.—Carrieri & Levat, proprietors of one of the half dozen or more private baking and exchange institutions in the Italian quarter on Washington street, have disappeared, taking with them all of the funds on deposit, amounting to about $10,000.

A Mine Accident.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 18.—A premature blast occurred at Honeybrook colliery, by which one man one man was killed and three injured. The men were working on a coal stripping at the time. Following is a list of the killed and injured: John Dempshen, killed; Kojas Matsoka, Alissic Trimpeno, Gwiona Peters, injured.

Killed by a Locomotive.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 18.—Jonas Smoker, a prominent farmer residing near Gordonsville, was standing on the Pennsylvania railroad in front of his home yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a locomotive and instantly killed.

All the scenery used during the engagement of Lillian Kennedy was especially built for the company and carried by them.

FIVE CHARRED BODIES.

Big Fire in Washington Attended with Fatal Results.

SEARCHING THE RUINS FOR VICTIMS

The Hands and Feet Were Burned from All the Dead, Their Features Entirely Obliterated and Clothing Consumed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The most fatal fire of recent years in Washington was the burning of the mattress factory of Stump & Bros. yesterday. Five bodies are at the morgue, charred and crushed beyond recognition, three injured men are at the Emergency hospital, one of whom will die, and there may be others buried under the ruins, as several of the workmen are unaccounted for.

Two of the dead at the morgue are known to be William H. Tennyson, an old man employed in the factory, and Willie Ashe, a boy of 12 years. Four others who are missing are Henry Fowler, Philip Ackerman, Robert Reitzel and an old man who had been employed in the factory but a few days and whose name is not remembered by his employer. Those at the hospital are: J. Haske, both legs broken, may die. Arthur C. Bevins, internal injuries and fractured wrist. Harry Bacon, internal injuries.

The factory which is owned by Claude N. and Edward B. Stump, stood at the intersection of Seventh and K streets and Massachusetts avenue, a five story structure with thin brick walls, windows only at back and front and no fire escapes. It was stored with feathers, shavings and other inflamable materials, and twenty-five persons were at work on it, six of them young women.

Fifteen minutes before noon fire was discovered in the picking room at the front of the second floor. Almost before the alarm could be given by the workmen it had spread through the second story and burst up the elevator well. There was delay in turning in an alarm on account of the panic.

The escape of those on the upper floors was cut off. They stood in the windows shouting for help while hundreds on the streets, unable to give assistance, yelled to them to wait for the hook and ladder. Three men were seen on the roof, two of them gesticulating frantically while the other leaned calmly against a chimney waiting.

Policeman Phil Brown found a ladder, and with the help of two stalwart men dragged a mattress to the roof of a blacksmith shop beneath the eaves of the factory. While these preparations were under way Haske jumped from the roof and was caught in the mattress. Vaughn leaped headlong so that in the force of his fall he tore through the mattresses as though it had been a blanket. Bacon jumped from a third story window and landed on his stomach across a barrel twenty-five feet below. Other men clung to narrow projections outside the windows until a pile of mattresses had been heaped on the sidewalk, and jumped off, sustaining severe injuries.

Twenty minutes after the fire had been discovered the east wall fell, crushing the blacksmith shop, Palmer's oyster house and the Horse and Cattle Food company's building. A cloud of burning feathers rose a hundred feet over the building, and, drifting down, set fire to several awnings in front of Seventh street stores, making lively work for volunteer firemen with water pails.

Shortly afterward the other walls tottered and came down, crushing the two story brick building of the Woodruff File Holder company, George J. Bennett's marble shop and Hall & Cammack's furniture store, a frame building. One fireman and several spectators were hurt by falling bricks.

The scene at the morgue, where men and women collected to look for missing relatives, was most distressing. The hands and feet were burned from all the dead, their features obliterated and clothing consumed. It was possible to identify Willie Ashe by the size of the body, and the old man, Tennyson, by his teeth. It is doubtful whether the identity of the other bodies can be distinguished.

The cause of the fire is unknown.

Rebellion in Peru Crushed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Dr. Don J. M. Yrigoyen, the representative of Peru in this country, says the rebellion in his country has been crushed, notwithstanding the reports printed that the rebels had captured Cerro Pasco and Port Casma. Dr. Yrigoyen explains that there are small places of no importance which might be terrorized temporarily by a handful of men, and that the dispersed rebels merely passed through the towns in flight.

It Cured Mother and Daughter.

BETHANY, N. Y., June 3, 1885.—"Since my wife commenced the use of Gilmore's wine she has steadily improved, until now her health is restored. She says she cannot keep house without this wine. It also cured my daughter, who was troubled with suppression of the menses. She had run over ten weeks and took only one bottle before she was cured."—Philip G. Burke. THE BLAZING WOODS.

THIS YEAR'S VISITATION THE WORST SINCE THE HORRORS OF 1881.

Next to an Earthquake or a Volcanic Eruption, a Great Forest Fire Is In Appearance the Most Striking of Natural Phenomena. Some Strange Details.

Forest fires rank among the most impressive, most destructive of natural phenomena. Some of those wild riots of the elements that we call cyclones and tornadoes, and sometimes floods, do quite as much damage to the works of man, but there is no manifestation which equals the forest fire in terror inspiring grandeur unless it be a volcanic eruption or an earthquake. There are forest fires in the United States every year, and every year the losses of property are considerable, but nothing approaching the fires that have this year laid waste parts of Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin, wiping out Hinckley, Phillips and other towns, has been suffered since the memorable Michigan conflagration of 1881. Even that catastrophe did not come with such awful suddenness, and it is doubtful if there was as great loss of life.

ON THE ROAD TOWARD SAFETY.

It will probably never be known how many lives were lost in the fierce woods blazes of 1881. Some estimates placed the number as high as 1,000, while others held that 300 would be nearer right. At all events, the experiences of those who were inhabitants of the burned over district were of the most horrifying nature, and the destruction of property was so great as to seriously put back the development of the Badger State. The fires broke out a little earlier than this year. Portions of five counties, all lying north of Port Huron and covering a territory 75 miles long, were swept by the flames, but Huron and Sanilac suffered most. There had been a severe drought, extending over a large part of the country, for weeks. This drought had been worse perhaps in Michigan than elsewhere.

Here and there small fires broke out during the last weeks of August; but, as the woods had not yet become thoroughly dried, these early blazes were extinguished without much difficulty, and no great alarm was felt till about Sept. 4. By that time the smoke from the burning forests had spread over nearly every part of the southern peninsula of Michigan and portions of adjoining states and Canada. On that day news was received for the first time that there had been loss of life. Just where it had occurred was not reported, but the story was not doubted, for the smoke got speedily so thick as to make it necessary to suspend business in some places many miles away from the location of the fires. I remember very well that I desired about that time to go from Cleveland to Buffalo by steamer, but was obliged to go by train, because the boats were laid up, pending the lifting of the dingy pall that overhung the shallow waters of Lake Erie. Through this smoke the sun's rays struggled with difficulty as far east as Rochester and Pittsburg, and to add to the general feeling of depression which naturally accompanied such a manifestation the heat, that had been oppressive for days, grew more intense. In some localities the mercury reached 100 degrees and over, and it was realized generally that unless relief in the form of rain came soon the situation must speedily be most serious. If before the rain came, it was pointed out, the wind should arise, there must be great losses, and the entire nation seemingly waited in breathless suspense. Would it be the blessed, saving rain or the scorching, destroying wind?

The question was answered Sept. 7, when a fierce gale arose, driving the flames before it with the speed of an express train. Nothing could hold its place before the leaping, savage fire; nothing slower than steam could outrun it, and there were many instances of trains just barely escaping. The situation of num-

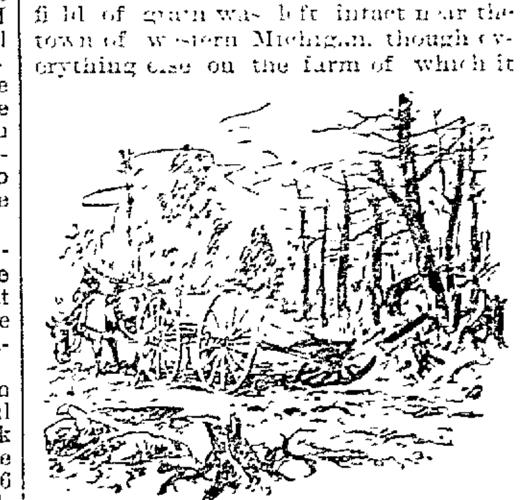

[illegible] IN THE LAKE.

[illegible] that had remained fro[illegible] was pitiable in the [illegible] family believed [illegible] surrounded by woods [illegible] were caught in [illegible] by any manner [illegible] to their homes in time to save [illegible] and children.

An [illegible] of men [illegible] to save themselves [illegible] and fought their way home, only to find, in place of the farmhouse and buildings, representing the work perhaps of half a lifetime, heaps of smoldering ashes or blazing furnaces of fire. Some families, more fortunate, managed to make a start on the road toward safety with wagons laden with such household goods as could be hastily gathered up, only to be overtaken by the greedy flames before they had gone a mile. Wives whose husbands failed to come to their aid hastily gathered their children in their arms and ran to the nearest water, whatever that might be. In more than one instance the family well, resorted to as the only place of safety, became a tomb for the refugees, the fire drawing the air from the depths and the victims suffocating from inhalation of mephitic gases.

Hundreds, like the wretches who were caught near Hinckley this year, rushed into ponds and marshes. Some saved themselves in this way. Others died miserably, immersed in mud to their nostrils, but smothered at last by the fire's consuming breath. Some escaped almost miraculously, but maimed. One poor fellow lost both eyes and both feet, yet saved his life, an almost useless thing. One woman's face was actually baked by the flames, so that the flesh fell off, leaving her countenance in appearance like a ghastly grinning death's-face, yet it was said that she would ultimately recover. The loss of life was not nearly so great in the vicinity of the shore of Lake Huron as elsewhere, for those living there could find a safe refuge in its sheltering waters, though the sufferings of some who saved themselves in that manner were almost beyond recital. They were obliged to stand as far out in the lake as they could, every now and then completely immersing themselves in order to keep from being burned by the sparks and brands that were constantly falling about them. Some there were who lost their lives from exposure and some from drowning. Many who were left alive by the fire died afterward from nervous strain and physical exhaustion, and there were not a few who became insane after their danger was past, as have some who passed through the fires of this year. Nor were there lacking cases of heroism every whit as striking as that displayed by Jim Wood, the engineer of the train that fled from the flames that were destroying Hinckley; but, as is usually the case, these brave men's names are mostly preserved only in the memories of their friends, instead of being held up forever before the world for its admiration.

Fire always plays queer tricks when it gets beyond human control, and the strange freaks of the blazes of the Michigan fires of 1881 were such as would pass belief if they were not vouched for by unimpeachable witnesses. In one village that was surrounded by the woods, as was Hinckley, every building but the church and the saloon was destroyed. A field of grain was left intact near the town of western Michigan, though everything else on the farm of which it was a part was licked up. A wagon in which a family was fleeing for safety lost one wheel only by fire, and the horses were found still harnessed after it was all over, while the fugitives who fled from the vehicle when it began to blaze were lost. They took refuge in a neighboring water hole and were smothered, as were so many others. If these had remained by their wagon, they would probably have been saved.

The forest fires of 1871, the year of the great Chicago fire, were as widespread and as terrible in their grandeur as those of 10 years later, but they did nothing like as much damage, because they were not located in such thickly settled regions. It has been claimed that the loss of life was greater, but as to that it is hardly possible to speak with certainty. It must always indeed be difficult to accurately estimate in such cases either as to life or property, for the burned over regions are always remote, and many lives are lost of which the world never learns. The response of the charitable to the appeals of the suffering both years was instantaneous and liberal to a degree. In 1881 the Red Cross society, under the direction of that good woman, Clara Barton, served the nation admirably as a medium for the distribution of the people's givings, as it has always in such times ever since its organization.

Other years memorable for great forest fires were 1848, 1854, 1884, 1887 and 1889. None of the fires of the earlier years was so serious as have been those of the later ones for the obvious reason that not so much damage could be done in a new settlement as in an older one, but they entailed great suffering and hardship nevertheless. In 1884 the smoke was carried to great distances without being dissipated, and some very curious effects resulted. The fires were earlier and more prevalent east that year than they have been this year. In May they raged with great fury in Pennsylvania, and one day the smoke from the burning pine woods of the Keystone State [illegible] filled down on New York city, making the streets of the eastern metropolis so dark that it was necessary to light the gas for an hour in order to continue business, while the smell of burning pine was quite apparent. Can't Hurt Iron Ships.

The East Indian shipworm will in a few months destroy any wooden vessel by eating out the interior of the beams and planks. They will be left a mere shell that can be shattered by the fist.

"It made me Hands thot Sor'

I couldn't slape; an' if it was thot harrd on me hands, how harrd it must be on the durrt!"

This is the way a good old Irish woman praises some washing-powder or other which she prefers to Pearline. As it was proven she had never tried Pearline, the compliment would appear to be in favor of Pearline.

Whoever heard of any one claiming that Pearline hurt the hands? But there's the trouble—Pearline is the original washing compound; its popularity has drawn out thousands of imitations—so popular that to many it indicates any powdered washing material. If you are using Pearline, you are satisfied: if you are dissatisfied, try Pearline. If you are using something with which you are satisfied and it is not Pearline, try Pearline—you will wonder you were satisfied before. Pearline is economical and absolutely harmless. Every grocer sells it. 475 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to-day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

of the physical constitution often comes from unnatural, pernicious habits, contracted through ignorance or from excesses. Such habits result in loss of manly power, nervous exhaustion, nervous debility, impaired memory, low spirits, irritable temper, and a thousand and one derangements of mind and body. Epilepsy, paralysis, softening of the brain and even dread insanity sometimes result from such reckless self-abuse.

To reach, reclaim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of the publishers of a book written in plain but chaste language, on the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. This book will be sent sealed, in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps to pay postage.

STOCK AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

Closing Quotations of the New York and Philadelphia Exchanges.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—With the exception of a break of ¾ per cent. in Pacific mail, tobacco and sugar, the latter share subsequently recovering ½ per cent., share values ruled higher up to 1 p. m. The early decline in Reading was due to dissatisfaction with published synopsis of the proposed plan of reorganization and the later recovery is owing to a belief that a modification will be brought about. Important Tariff Ruling.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The board of general appraisers, in an opinion drawn by General Appraisers T. S. Sharretts, of Baltimore, and sent to Collector Kilbreth, of the port of New York, holds that schedule K of the new tariff act does not go into effect as to the articles therein provided for until 1, 1895, but that all fabrics manufactured from wool, worsted, the hair of the camel, goat, alpaca or other animals is dutiable under the McKinley act until that date. This is a most important decision, and will probably affect millions of dollars in the woolen trade.

Died from a Cancer.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 18.—Alden B. Richardson, senior member of the canning firm of Richardson & Robbins, of Dover, died in that town yesterday from the effects of a cancer. He was elected member of the state senate as a Republican in 1888, and was one of the foremost citizens of Dover. He was born in Wakefield, Mass., in 1825.

Fatally Injured His Invalid Wife.

THOMPSON, Conn., Sept. 18.—Andrew Howland, a well known citizen of that town, assaulted and fatally injured his wife, who is an invalid. Mrs. Howland accused her husband of undue intimacy with the servant girl, whereupon he became enraged and beat her into insensibility with a hammer. Howland is under arrest.

An Officer Thrown in Prison.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 18.—It is learned here that Officer Carr Love, who went to Mexico to arrest and extradite J. B. Sutler, defaulting secretary of the Austin Building and Loan association, has been himself arrested and thrown into prison at Monterey. International complications are feared.

A Mississippi Steamboat Sunk.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 18.—The steamboat Blue Wing struck a hidden snag while making a landing at Craighead Point, fifteen miles south of Osceola, Ark., yesterday afternoon, and sank in sixteen feet of water. The boat is a total wreck and but half of the cargo can be saved. There were twenty-eight passengers on board, but all of them reached shore in safety.

More Treasury Clerks Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Twelve more clerks in the treasury department yesterday received notice of their dismissal. These dismissals are made under the Dockery law, which contemplates that the clerical force of the department will be reduced about 10 per cent. It is expected that the remainder of the removals will all have been made before Jan. 1, 1895.

English Cricketers Batting.

LIVINGSTON, S. I., Sept. 18.—The Anglomaniacs and their inning yesterday and it will continue today and tomorrow. The occasion was the contest between Lord Hawke's English team of cricketers and an equal number as representatives of all New York. At the close yesterday 280 runs had been made.

No St. Louis-Chicago Electric Road.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18.—The case of Dr. Wellington Adams, who had been suing for infringement of patents all street railway companies using electric motors, was dismissed in the federal court. This kills the project for an electric line between St. Louis and Chicago.

Burned to Death.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—During a small fire at 250 Austin avenue, Mrs. Christian Peterson, 60 years of age, was burned to death while endeavoring to rescue an infant niece. The child was saved, but was so seriously injured that its life is despaired of.

HOPE FOR DYSPEPTICS.

A Natural Food That Does Not Require Digestion.

THE WAY IT IS DONE.

How Mixing With Fruit Acids Digests Food Before It is Even Taken Into the Mouth.

Natural foods are as a rule insoluble. They must be dissolved before they can be absorbed.

Digestion is the dissolving of food in our mouth, stomach and intestines. It is done by special ferments prepared by special organs.

A great deal of energy is used up in digestion. Well people can spare the energy, sick people cannot. People who have not sufficient energy suffer from indigestion.

It is plain that Paskola, which is an artifically digested food, will save a sick person a great deal of energy.

Artificial digestion is the dissolving of food outside the body by the same ferments that dissolve it inside the body. Paskola is a fattening food made of grains and fruits that has been digested in this way. It also aids in the digestion of other food

Sick people need all their energy to get well. They should take Paskola. Thin people spend their energy in business or other cares and worry. Paskola will make them fat without giving their digestive organs any work.

Paskola is an ideal natural fattening food. It is more. It is a natural tonic food that does not create false new energy but helps you to husband what you have.

Any one who reads the thankful words which follow will be convinced of the surpassing worth of this great artificially digested food:

MIAMISVILLE, OHIO, AUGUST 16, 1894.

DEAR FRIENDS: And you have indeed been friends to me as you would be convinced if you could have seen me last Summer at this time and see me now. For three years I have been treated by the best doctors in Indiana and Ohio. I would get relief for a while, but only to get worse again. When I commenced to take Paskola I did not think that it would do me any good, and had made up my mind to quit taking medicine and let Nature take its course, when one of your little books was thrown in my way, and I asked my husband if I could try it, and he is surprised with the result. I have taken four bottles and to-day I never felt better in my life. I do not know how much I have gained in flesh, but every one says I look so much better.

I have advertised it well here and several have tried it, and are much pleased. I can eat anything I want and sleep at night like a log. I cannot say enough of Paskola and also of the tablets. They are just grand. I wish I could convince every one of its merits; they would certainly use it.

I remain your friend,
Mrs. Fred Groves.

You can obtain Paskola of any good druggist, and a free pamphlet will be mailed by the Pre-digested Food Co., 30 Reade Street, New York.

Cow Killed by Lightning—Buying Cider Apples—Teacher Engaged—Able to Ride Out—Fall Plowing Delayed—Good Crops of Corn and Buckwheat.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—During the thunder storm of Monday evening of last week, William Sutton had a good cow killed by lightning. The cow was valued at $50, and was insured for $40.

—Louis Van Orden, station agent at Slate Hill, is acting as agent in buying cider apples by the carload for parties in the western part of this State. Farmers are now busy carting their cider apples to the station by big wagon loads, and the apple sellers are stimulated by having a near market for delivery and by receiving ready cash for their apples.

—Mr. DeWitt, who has recently moved to Slate Hill, and occupies a part of the residence of Mrs. Sarah Hallock, is engaged to teach our district school. He formerly resided near Port Jervis, and is said to be a competent teacher.

—Mr. Daniel H. Eaton is slowly recovering from the attack of paralysis which came upon him a few months ago, and is able to ride quite a distance. He goes out nearly every day and enjoys it very much.

—The extreme dry state of the soil prevents farmers from doing their fall plowing.

—Observers say that Prof. Tooker has one of the best fields of corn and buckwheat, each of three acres, to be seen in this town.

A Chance for Governor Flower—The Blue Stone Trade—A Stone Throwing Case—Would Make a Commotion—Overcome by Heat—Accident to a Balloonist.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Governor Flower, during his speech at the State Fair at Syracuse, "advised the farmers to break away from the old fashioned style of farming and the old fashioned way of marketing." It's a pity the Governor don't know something about the workings of the Milk Exchange. If he did he would no doubt have a heap of advice to give the milk shipping farmers of New York State.

—The stone business has kept up far better than it was thought it would. The demand for thin stone for inside walks has been good throughout the season. The financial sky seems to be clearing up a little, and owners of quarries who can afford it will keep their men at work through the coming winter at taking off top, so as to be able to take advantage of the spring trade, which with flag stone is always the best.

—John Gray, of Colchester-on-the-Beaverkill, was arrested Saturday on complaint of Mrs. Geo. W. McAdams, for tossing stones through the window of her unoccupied house. The husband of the complainant is now in Delhi jail on the charge of shooting his neighbor Lancaster. The stone throwing case has been adjourned until Wednesday, before A. P. Cook, Esq., and a jury.

—If the men who have been prosecuting B. W. Winner, of Liberty, for the past two years, should take it into their heads to commit suicide as did Dan. R. Bonnell, there would be a fearful commotion in Sullivan county. It's bad enough to lose one's money without being compelled to commit hari-kari when you try to get it back.

—Henry Sherwood, of Roscoe, while at work shingleing a roof some two weeks ago was overcome with the heat, and has not been able to get about until now. Those who have buildings to roof should select days when the sun does not shine too warm.

Left the Wallkill Valley Road—The Paper Mill Running Again—Month's Mind Mass for Father Brady.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Mr. George J. Jopson, the old and popular engineer on the W. V. R. R., has left the position and gone to California to work on a railroad there.

—The paper mill started up last week, again, there being enough water to furnish power.

—The ceremony known as the Month's Mind Mass was celebrated in the church of St. Mary in this village, to the memory of Rev. P. Brady, the deceased pastor of the church. Vicar General Mooney, of the New York, presided and the following priests filled the other offices: Celebrant, Very Rev. Deacon, William Penny, of Newburgh; Deacon, Rev. John Carr; Sub-Deacon, Rev. Father Francis Lenes, Preacher, Rev. J. P. McClancy, Middletown; Master of of Ceremonies, Rev. C. A. Meredith, the pastor of St. Mary's. The music was superb being under the direction of Prof. Gerhig and the choir of St. Patrick's Church, in Newburgh. The following priests were in attendance: Rev. Father Sally, of Port Jervis; Rev. George Corrigan, of Paterson; Rev. Father Milo, of Chester.

BULLVILLE.

Saturday's Ball Game—Cows Poisoned.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—There was a game of ball, Saturday, between the Bullvilles and a nine from the Union school. The Bullville boys won the game by a score of twenty-nine to eleven.

—It would appear that John McCarty has a secret enemy and one of the very meanest kind. A few days ago three of his cows died. A veterinary surgeon was called to make an examination of the carcasses and gave as his opinion that the animals had been poisoned with arsenic.

—J. D. Brinkerhoff and family, of Middletown, spent Sunday with Mrs. B's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Green.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill. had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Sdeaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, and the doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at McMonagle & Rogers Drug store.

Dated Slate Hill, Sept. 14th, 1894

Breckinridge will not acknowledge that he is beaten, but gives notice of his intention to contest the result of the primary election and claim the nomination on grounds of fraud. He gives many reasons for his defeat, but ignores the only real one, the disgust and contempt which the people of his district feel for him. His egotism is so overweening that he can not see himself as others do, and though the earth were to drop on him would not drop on himself.

Oswego is feeling the good effects of the removal of the duty from lumber. Within thirty-six hours ten car goes of lumber, containing 1,700,000 feet have arrived there, and the trade is certain to reach large proportions and to make Oswego one of the great lumber ports of the country. All of which is of local interest and advantage, for as Oswego's lumber business grows so also will grow the lumber carrying trade of the Ontario and Western.

Mr. Dean, the Chautauqua Republican who voted in the Constitutional Convention against his party's scheme of apportionment, has evidently a poor opinion of Messrs. Hirschberg and Dickey, Newburgh's representatives in the convention. In explaining his vote against the apportionment as unfair and iniquitious, he said: "I have only pity and contempt for those who blindly follow where folly leads and, therefore, at the risk of being read out of the party by the organized verbosity of Newburgh, I vote no."

The Philadelphia Ledger, a Republican paper, committed heart and soul to belief in protection, is honest enough to record the signs of business improvement which it sees on every hand and says that they all point to a renewal of activity in a most gratifying degree. It finds also that these signs of a restoration of normal business conditions are not local but are found in all business centres, and goes on to say:

"Why should not the country now enter upon a new era of prosperity? The question of the currency has been definitely, unchangeably determined in favor of a sound, safe, honest one; our industries have a known settled basis to build upon; manufacturers know precisely the conditions under which they are to operate. American enterprise, thrift, energy, courage will readily adapt themselves to the new economic status, and if there is in sight no expansive business boom, there are the most satisfactory indications of reviving prosperity of that real, steadfast prosperity which is better than any spasmodic boom."

State Committeeman Odell called on Senator Saxton at Saratoga, yesterday, and informed him that the twenty three delegates representing Orange, Sullivan and Rockland counties had decided to support him for Lieutenant Governor. As Mr. Odell absolutely controls the delegation from this Congressional district, and has only to take snuff in order to make his twenty-three delegates sneeze in concert, he must be credited with engineering the deal that tied them to the tail of Saxton's kite. It seems a queer combination. Saxton is conspicuous as a ballot reformer, and Odell,—well, he hasn't won his reputation as a political leader on ballot reform lines or as a practical exponent of purity in politics.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Interest Centered in the Fight for Second Place—Much Talk of Saxton Today—Cheers for Platt and Fassett—Recess till 4 O'clock.

BY UNITED PRESS.

SARATOGA, Sept. 18.—The day of the Republican Convention opened bright and clear. Platt's cottage is still the Mecca of delegates and others. There are many callers also at Fassett's headquarters. There is lots of talk about Saxton for Lieutenant-Governor, this morning.

Ex-Secretary Tracy will nominate Morton. The battle for second place is now attracting most attention.

When Platt entered the convention hall he was greeted with a round of applause. Fassett entered next with Judge Potter, of Ulster. He was also applauded.

The convention was called to order at 12:19. Hon. Lemuel Ell Quigg, of New York city, was chosen temporary chairman and delivered a long address thanking the convention for the honor and arraigning the Democratic party for its ruinous policy and misrule.

The usual committees were appointed and a recess was taken until 4 o'clock.

OUR BUSINESS CREED.

Article I. We always offer to the buying public the choicest clothing to be had, and at prices usually paid for an inferior article,- that is, in the same grades WE ARE NEVER UNDERSOLD

Article II. We never sell an inferior grade of clothing that we know will cause dissatisfaction to the purchaser, for that is dissatisfaction to us. Once a purchaser, then a customer. That's our ambition.

Article III. We do not manufacture our own clothing, nor try to make you think we do, for you know better. We have not the experience the large manufacturers have—they have reduced clothing manufacturing to a fine art, and we prefer to sell you their reliable goods than those of our experimenting. We know you will be better pleased, and they are cheaper, too.

Article IV. We do not sell clothing for all wool that is only 51 per cent. wool. Majorities do not rule in determining the quality of clothing. It is either all wool or part wool, and a trifle more wool than cotton, does not make an all wool suit or garment. Bear this in mind when buying elsewhere.

THE ORANGE COUNTY FAIR.

Opened To-day Under Discouraging Conditions—Many Entries in All Departments and Success Assured if the Weather Improves.

The Orange County Fair opened at Newburgh, to day, but owing to the frequent showers and the threatening clouds, the attendance is not even up to the average of opening days.

The entries in all the departments are numerous enough to insure the success of the fair if the weather during the remaining days should be pleasant, and they are not all in yet, but will be to-morrow, if the day opens fair.

The poultry exhibit is complete, and is said by experts to be the finest ever seen at any Orange County Fair, there being in addition to Orange county birds a large number of Canadian fowls and chicks that were prize winners at the State Fair.

The dog show is also complete, and dogs of high and low degree and of every conceivable color, size and shape, are on exhibition.

Take your mothers, sisters, sweethearts, to see Lillian Kennedy during her short stay.

CAPTURED BY HIS BONDSMAN.

Frank B. Teel Run Down in Canada by George Waldorf.

Frank B. Teel, who was arrested at Hurleyville, in August, for sending obscene pictures and literature through the mails, who was bailed in $5,000 by George A. Waldorf and John A. Prince, of Hurleyville, and who, two weeks ago, fled the country leaving his bondsmen in the lurch, has been arrested at Clifton, Canada.

As soon as Waldorf and Prince realized that Teal had run away they issued a large number of postal cards offering $500 reward for Teal's arrest and Waldorf started out to do some detective work on his own account. Believing that Teal had gone to Canada, he went there and after an unsuccessful search in several towns and cities, finally located him in Clifton and caused his arrest by the Canadian police.

Anthony Comstock, who made the complaint that led to Teal's first arrest was notified, yesterday, of the capture and also of the fact that Teal would resist extradition.

The prisoner changed his mind, however, and consented to accompany Waldorf to New York and he passed through this city on Ontario and Western train 6 at 6:20, this morning. Waldorf, who was unwilling to take any more chances with his slippery prisoner, kept him handcuffed while on the train, but removed the bracelets while Teel took breakfast at Seeholzer's restaurant at the Wickham avenue station.

It is said that the first definite information that Waldorf obtained that Teel was in Canada was from a letter from him which passed through the Hurleyville post office, which bore a Canadian postmark. Later, he learned that Mrs. Teel had bought a ticket for Niagara Falls at Liberty, and following her there he quickly located his man at Clifton and caused his arrest, as above stated.

Application was made, yesterday, for the reduction of bail in the case George Watts, one of Teel's alleged accomplices, from $2,500 to $2,000.

THE "ABANDONED" BABY.

No Mystery About the Matter—Only a Little Family Joke.

The mystery of the "abandoned" infant, said to have been found in the hallway of a house on Hanford street, yesterday, has been solved, and proves to have been no mystery at all, only a little family "joke."

The child was found by its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hulse, in the hallway of their own house. The child was born Sept. 7th, a week ago last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hulse were married in June last, and fearing that Mr. Hulse's mother, who lives at 347 North street, would not welcome the idea of being made a grandmother on such short notice, arranged a little comedy for her benefit, and planned to find a baby, which they would adopt and rear as their own.

They placed the baby in the hallway and found it as they had planned, but unfortunately for the success of their pleasing fiction, Mr. Hulse related the "yarn" to his mother in the presence of a garrulous neighbor, who straightway informed the police of the discovery of an "abandoned" infant.

This started an investigation, which resulted in finding the doctor and nurse who attended Mrs. Hulse when the child was born.

When a reporter placed the evidence before her, this morning, she finally acknowledged that the child was hers and told the above story.

The child was taken, yesterday, to its grandmother, where it now is, but both women have been notified by the poormaster and coroner that its career will be closely watched, and a rigid investigation will follow should any harm come to it.

Everett Husle has for the past three months been in the employment of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and formerly worked in the type factory. Mrs. Hulse was a Miss Etta Smith, formerly of Mt. Salem, N. J. The couple were married at Oxford, June 21st.

A Veteran's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Walter Gray was held, this morning, from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Darwin Arkills, No. 119 North street.

A delegation of twelve members of Gen. Lyon Post, No. 266, G. A. R., under command of Commander A. B. Wheeler, accompanied the remains to Liberty, via O. and W. train 1, where the interment will take place.

To Entertain Capt. Jackson Post.

The Women's Relief Corps of Capt. Jackson Post, G. A. R., will entertain the Post and its friends at the Post rooms in the Low building, this evening, commencing at 9 o'clock. A musical programme has been arranged, after which a supper will be served by the ladies.

Forty Hours' Devotion at St Joseph's.

The forty hours' devotion services, which began at St. Joseph's Church Sunday morning, and were concluded this morning, were of unusual interest and were very largely attended. Nearly 300 persons were present at the 5 o'clock service this morning.

The great railroad scene in the new edition of "She Couldn't Marry Three" represents an outlay of many thousands of dollars.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

Assessor C. K. Gordon, Seventy five Years Old, Yesterday—Surprised by His Family and Friends.

Seventy-five years ago, yesterday, Mr. Cogswell K. Gordon, one of our city assessors, first saw the light of day. He was born and reared in Sullivan county, and probably the pure air of that mountain region which he inhaled during the early years of his life, had much to do with building up the strong constitution that has enabled him to live three-quarters of a century and still remain as strong and active in body and as vigorous in mind as many men are at fifty years.

Mr. Gordon, if he had been permitted, would have allowed this anniversary of his birth to pass by without any more notice than had been given to many others in years gone by, but his daughters, Mrs. C. W. Martin and Miss Carrie, wouldn't have it so, and without taking either their father or mother into their confidence, they began preparations to celebrate the event as they deemed its importance justified.

About fifty friends were invited to be present, last evening, and at the same time were requested to maintain the utmost secrecy and these instructions were obeyed. From Dr. T. C. Royce and family, who reside next door, the ladies received valuable assistance. The doctor's residence was used as a storage warehouse for such articles as were needed for a supper, and about 7 o'clock, last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon were invited to the doctor's house, and accepted the invitation without the least suspicion.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, when the parlor was filled with friends, a messenger was sent for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, and when they entered the rooms there was no doubt about the completeness of the surprise. Both were speechless for a time, but looked from one face to another and finding that all were their friends, began to recover from their astonishment and bade them a hearty welcome.

Mr. Gordon received the congratulations of all present and was then invited to sit down in an elegant turkish rocker, a present from his children.

The evening was very pleasantly spent by all present and apparently none enjoyed the occasion better than Mr. Gordon and his estimable wife.

After refreshments had been served the company was entertained with singing by Mrs. Iseman, Mrs. Skinner and Dr. Darwood and then the company dispersed, all heartily wishing Mr. Gordon many happy returns of his anniversary day.

VALUE OF A HUSBAND'S AFFECTIONS.

A Colorado Court Awards a Sullivan County Girl Judgment for $16,000 Against Her Mother-in-Law.

Justice Thompson, in the Supreme Court of Colorado, at Denver, yesterday, affirmed the judgment of the lower courts in a suit of Mrs. Kate Williams against her mother-in-law, Elizabeth M. Williams, of Brooklyn, for the alienation of her husband's affections.

The suit was originally brought for $50,000, but the District Court gave a judgment for only $12,000.

An appeal to the Supreme Court was taken and judgment affirmed. A motion for a rehearing was made before Justice Thompson, who denied it, and ordered the judgment with interest, amounting in all to $16,000, entered.

The plaintiff in the suit is a native of Sullivan county. Her maiden name was Catherine Quinn, and she was the handsome daughter of a farmer who resides near Monticello. She went to New York in 1887, and was secretly married to Edward Williams.

The latter's mother at once began trying to bring about a separation and succeeded in having her son transfer to her $25,000 in stocks and bonds left him by his father. She then proposed a trip to Denver and when there began to persecute her daughter-in-law, until the latter began a suit against her husband for divorce and $15,000 alimony, and an action against her mother in-law for $50,000 damages.

The young wife has been at her father's, at Monticello, awaiting the outcome of the suit against her mother-in-law. The divorce suit has not yet come to trial.

The Human Electrical Forces.

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve as shown here may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion the nerve force which it supplies is lessened and the organs receiving [illegible] diminished supply are consequently [illegible].

THE FOUNDLING.

Barlow was somewhat late, for an annoying error in posting by an under bookkeeper had detained him at the office. He walked rather more rapidly than usual, for he knew that the major, Simpson and Granger were waiting for him to make the fourth hand in the game of whist which always preceded dinner. Collins was not home, for he had gone to Milwaukee and would not return until the next morning, and Barlow knew that the major was impatiently tapping the table with his fingers and watching the door.

For seven years the five men had lived together, and the whist game before dinner was one of the household habits which had fastened itself upon the little community as a vital element of its placid existence. The men were all past middle age, and any digression from the routine jarred the entire domestic machinery for the time. Dinner was always served at 7 o'clock, and Barlow felt more than guilty, for it was not only nearly 6 o'clock, but the afternoon was the Saturday half holiday, and he should have been home several hours earlier.

He increased his pace when he turned into the street which for three blocks was the bottom of an architectural canyon, its sides formed of solid rows of houses each exactly like the other. As he approached the center house of the middle block he felt for his latchkey and drew it from his pocket when he turned to ascend the steps. The key dropped from his hand, and he fell back a pace, for cooing at him from the corner of the little porch a baby stretched its chubby arms toward him and smiled when the key jingled on the stone step.

Barlow's first thought was that he had taken the wrong steps, and he steadily stared at the number painted on the transom. The number was right, and he rapidly checked it off with the familiar window curtains and the doormat. The major's burly form came into view through the window, and then Barlow concentrated his attention on the baby. It cooed gently and made an effort to crawl down the steps.

"Hold on; you'll hurt yourself," cried Barlow as the baby leaned perilously over the edge of the doorstep. The little one looked up and smiled again, and then for the first time in his memory Barlow held a baby in his arms.

For several minutes he stood looking up and down the street, but no one came to help him. He pressed the baby to him as he stooped for his key, and opening the door walked into the sitting room with the baby under his arm as though it were a laundry bundle.

"Hello, you're [illegible]" said the major, loosening the belt of his dressing gown and reaching for a deck of cards. "What [illegible] Bless my soul, what [illegible]"

[illegible] heels and struck [illegible] Simpson dropped the evening paper and stared at [illegible] Granger forgot [illegible] blazing match [illegible] his pipe [illegible] burned it [illegible] his fingers [illegible] Barlow and the [illegible] infant.

The oppressive silence was broken by a sudden cry from the baby, and the major caught it by one leg just in time to save it from striking the floor, for Barlow dropped it when the cry came. For a second the major held the baby by its leg while a series of muffled explosions came from under the clothing, which had fallen over the baby's head. Then he gently lowered the little one to the floor, and all silently watched the strange creature squirm and struggle its way out of the maze of linen and flannel and finally sit up, a red faced, tearful, screaming baby.

Barlow's explanation was incoherent, for he, like the major, Granger and Simpson, was in a state of mental chaos. The baby's screams brought Bob, the colored cook and all around servant, from the dining room, and his black face increased the vigor of the infantile yells and deepened the scarlet hue of its face to a purplish tinge.

A twisted wire brooch which held the little sack at the neck gave the baby's name as "Joey." The major was seized with an inspiration. Snapping his fingers, he said: "Here, Joey, here, here, here," as he used to speak to the only dog he ever owned.

The other men felt an immense admiration for the major, for Joey suddenly stopped crying. The minute of silence seemed an hour to the anxious old bachelors looking down at the tiny stranger.

Joey was strangely quiet. His mouth was wide open, his eyes bulged, and a rattling sound in his throat alarmed Barlow.

"[illegible] get some water [illegible] Open all the windows [illegible] choking to [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] believed the major, bobbing his watch up and down six inches from the baby's face. "Talk to him; talk to him. Don't you know some baby talk? Here, Joey, here, here." And the major stopped his roaring and whistled, snapping his fingers.

His efforts were futile. Joey cried the louder, and the men left him in the middle of the floor and sat down to a solemn consultation.

"We've got to stop that crying first," said Simpson. "Now, I remember I picked up a woman's paper once in a doctor's office. It had a dozen columns on the care of babies. I'll go to the corner and get some papers and magazines." And Simpson hurried to the corner news store. He returned with his arms full of weekly and monthly literature and found Joey crying at the top of his voice. With nervous haste the men pored over the papers until Barlow's triumphant "Here it is" brought the others to him.

"Hints to Young Mothers," read Barlow, peering through his spectacles.

"If the baby cries without apparent reason, the cause will probably be one of three things—a pin sticking its tender body, the colic or teething. First, search for the pin, for remember the baby cannot talk and tell you where the annoyance is. Remove the clothing gently and rub the hand over the little body. If it is colic, place the baby, stomach down, on your knee and gently pat and rub the hollow of the back. This will sooth the little one. If it is teething rub the gums briskly but tenderly with the index finger."

When Barlow had finished, the men felt the relief which comes when the enemy is known and visible. The major walked courageously to the baby, pulling his cigar. Granger lighted his pipe, and Barlow, repeating "First search for the pin," seated himself on the edge of the chair and received the baby from the major. Joey alternately screamed and gasped, for the major and Granger had filled the room with tobacco smoke, but Barlow and Simpson, with grim deliberation, removed the little shoes and stockings and peeled off the other clothing, until Joey, a chubby, rosy cherub, displayed his physical charms to the intensely interested bachelors. From head to foot the wailing, choking Joey was inspected by the quartet, and not a pin mark was observable.

"It's either colic or teething," said Granger, who had dropped on his knees, with "Hints to Young Mothers" before him. "Place the baby, stomach down, on your knee," he read, "and gently pat and rub the hollow of the back." Catching the naked Joey by the nape of his neck and grasping both feet Barlow flopped him over and rubbed so energetically that Joey's back grew red, and he squirmed and screamed worse than ever. "It's not colic; it's his teeth," said Granger, who had waited a reasonable time to see the effect of the treatment. "Rub the gums briskly but tenderly with the index finger."

Simpson squatted to the floor on the other side, and thrusting his finger into Joey's mouth rubbed Joey's gums, while Barlow still patted and rubbed the small of Joey's back.

Utterly exhausted, Joey's cries sank to subdued sobs, and finally he became quiet. Barlow held him for half an hour, while Granger, who had been energetically studying the advertisements of infants' food, went to the drug store and brought half a dozen [illegible] and bottles to Bob, who [illegible] following directions, made up [illegible] different brands of [illegible] food, malted milk and cornstarch preparations. Joey's continued silence gave Barlow and the major confidence, and they [illegible] to clothe him again [illegible] his [illegible] may still [illegible] Joey eagerly [illegible] of prepared food and [illegible] smiling and showed his pretty dimples so effectively that the major picked him up his dressing gown and danced vigorously [illegible] him.

The belated dinner was eaten in silence, with Joey staring through the folding doors from the center of the sitting room. Then came the perplexing problem of providing suitable sleeping quarters for the little guest. It was voted to put Joey in Collins' bed, and again the "Hints to Young Mothers" was consulted. The oracle said:

"For sleep, baby's nightgown should be loose, short and easy. Woolen is preferred."

Granger disappeared when Simpson read this and returned with a light flannel negligee shirt. "We can cut off the sleeves," he said, "and the bottom. It must be short, you know, and loose and woolen and easy."

Joey was too sleepy to protest when Barlow again pulled his clothing from him. The baby was placed in Granger's shirt, and then, escorted by the major, Granger, Simpson and Bob, Barlow carried Joey to Collins' room, and building a nest of pillows laid Joey, now fast asleep, in it.

Joey did not wake all night, but the men took turns watching him until Bob's rising bell awoke the baby. At the same moment Collins entered the house. Then peace fell on the bachelors, for Collins was a widower, and they felt he understood the situation.

"Why didn't you inform the police?" he asked. "Some mother was crazy about this baby last night."

After feeding and dressing Joey, Collins picked him up, went out of the house and slowly walked down the street. He had passed one of the blocks of houses when a woman's scream stopped him, and the next instant Joey was in his mother's arms.

The servant girl was new to the neighborhood. She had placed Joey on the wrong steps and had then chased two small boys who had run away with the baby carriage. When she returned she could not find Joey, she became hysterical, and the family roamed the streets and haunted the police stations all night, with Joey in a bachelors' [illegible] a block away.—Chicago Record.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

THE HOME TEAM.

How pleasing is the playing when the home club wins!
How everybody laughs and claffs and everybody grins!
An Umpire is forgiven for all his heinous sins,
So pleasing is the playing when the home club wins.

The boy upon the bleachers is as happy as a king,
The maiden in the grand stand is as sweet as anything,
The crank is all in clover, and the knocker is on top—
He sells a peck of peanuts and a half a gross of pop—
The fellow from the country widens out his mouth and eyes,
The manager is smiling and a-sighing happy sighs,
The mascot is a-bounding round as if he were on pins,
So pleasing is the playing when the Home Club Wins!

But what a sad sensation when the home club slumps!
The umpire is a villain and a dastard chump of chumps!
We're on the road to ruin, and we're deeply in the dumps,
For oh, the sad sensation when the home club slumps!

The manager and mascot are a very worthy pair;
One has a yellow liver, and the other yellow hair.
Our captain is a quitter, and the other is a thief.
There's not a word in Webster which can give a man relief.
Won't some one give the gawks a box of ginger wine and beef?
No, not the wine. They've had too much already—my belief!
Why don't they fire the blockheads go and sign a nine of stumps?
For, oh, the sad sensation when the Home Club Slumps!

CUBAN GIANTS IN LUCK

Win a Game from the Asylums in the Last Inning—Careless Playing of the Home Team—Do You Want to See the Brooklyns Play the Asylums.

The Cuban Giants played in great luck, yesterday, winning a ball from the Asylums after one of the prettiest games of the season. The Asylums made errors at critical points, and every error cost a run. Careless base running lost a sure run and slow work in the field lost several more. The Asylums outbatted their dusky opponents but the hits were not bunched.

With the score 9 to 7 in the last half of the ninth inning the Cubans went in and batted out three runs, which, assisted by errors, won the game.

Genegel knocked a ball clear over the canvas, netting a home run. Lawler, who was on first ran in ahead of him, but failed to touch third base. His attention was called to it and he ran back, touched the base, but was put out at home plate.

A wrangle followed, but the decision of Manager Bright of the Cubans, who umpired the bases, went, and Lawler was declared out. Manager Degnan officiated as umpire on balls and strikes.

Score by innings:

Cuban Giants	1	0	2	1	2	0	0	1	3	—10
Asylums	4	1	1	0	0	1	0	2	0	— 9

The Asylum management are making every effort to secure enough encouragement from patrons of the game in this city, to warrant them in paying the large guarantee demanded by the Brooklyn Club for a game on Oct. 5th or 6th.

In order that the Asylums may know how many people are desirous of seeing a game between the two teams, printed slips were distributed among the audience, yesterday, asking the question, "How many tickets would you purchase at fifty cents." Answers may be handed to any member of the term, or to the management.

NEW PALTZ NORMAL SCHOOL.

Many Orange County Students at This Training School for Teachers.

Twenty-two counties of this State are represented by the new students at the New Paltz Normal School. They number 136 in all. Orange county is well represented among the new comers by the following: Katherine C. McGlone, Katherine A. Cunniffe, Maude S. Luckey, Nellie M. Frazee, of Port Jervis; Grace Denna, Harriet La Forge, Highland Falls; Cora Earl, Highland Mills; Elsie Revill, Cronomer Valley; Mary A. Hackett, Chester; Mary A. Reilly, Greycourt; Henry V. Clark, William H. Slaughter, Campbell Hall; Anna G. Egan, Newburgh, Nellie P. Orr, Orrs Mills; Harriet B. Park, Circleville, Elizabeth Holbert, Goshen, Collingwood Gordon, Idlewild, P O, Emma L Case, Westtown, Lizzie J. Sherer Bullville; Anna M. Dulski, Florida, Libbie E. Hardenburgh, Walden.

Wait for the Big Show

A manager who expends thousands of dollars in order that nothing will be neglected that might add to the enjoyment of his patrons certainly deserves success, and, as a rule, he generally gets it, if the public would endeavor to discriminate between responsible companies and those who possess no stability.

There are plenty of good shows, but, unfortunately, there are hundreds which are utterly devoid of merit. Now, any one can tell at a glance if they see a magnificent new store with massive plate glass windows, that it necessarily calls for a great outlay of money to erect it, and the stock in such a store is generally of the finest. The same line of reasoning to theatrical enterprises, for instance: when you see a show billed in the lavish and expensive manner that characterizes "She Couldn't Marry Three" company you can rest assured there is money and push back of it. The beautiful, artistic pictorial lithographic work is the finest and costliest on the road, No lithographic firm would attempt that kind of work without having $10,000 down to insure them from loss. This is only one of the many items of a great show, and the same good taste which provides this beautiful printing will neglect no other department of the show. So there is no doubt that the production of "She Couldn't Marry Three" is the biggest show of the season.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

PINKHAM'S Vegetable Compound

Is a positive cure for all those painful

Ailments of Women.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. That causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes

Bearing-down Feeling

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,

Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or Womb Troubles.

The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 90 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequaled.

Kidney Complaints

Buy of the Manufacturer!

When we ask you to do so, it is with a full knowledge of what we are saying and there can be no mistake about it, as

not like some others, unable to speak to the public understandingly through the columns of a newspaper, who employ some one else to do so for them, one who does not know any more about the clothing business than the man in the moon. In this way great discrepancies may occur and people appear as if talking thro' their hats; as for instance, some speak of when they themselves don't know what that means, and when, in fact, they would stoop to anything to effect a sale. Some think it awfully smart to say most anything without being able to substantiate it, while it is fortunate for them that they have a father!

Step Into Our Place, and we'll be only too glad to show you through our Clothing Department, and in a few minutes you will be convinced that our own clothing, but that

We Do Manufacture Every Dollar's Worth of Clothing We Sell!

Buy of the manufacturer and save one profit.
